

MAPPING MY AREA

ACTIVITY SHEET

The Geological Society

Harry Young spent 30 years making a rock map of Scotland. From 1992, he travelled all over Scotland picking up rocks for the map and he added the final piece in 2022. The rocks related to the geology of the area.

Can you see the similarities between Harry and the British Geological Survey's map?

Now its your turn! Check out <https://www.bgs.ac.uk/map-viewers/bgs-geology-viewer/> to see information about the geology all around you and design your own geological map.

What material would you make your map out of?
